Nowadays young people have a lot of opportunities to receive good education and to find a well paid job. In some cities there are a lot of firms which need to qualify specialists. So young people have a wide choice of career options, but many of them think that it is difficult to find something suitable to their interests and expectations.

Since my childhood I have been thinking about some different professions. I am in two minds yet what career to choose as I am in the 9th form. But I am inclined to predict that it won't be a large firm or factory either. I suppose I would like to be a teacher because I love children, I have always desired to explain people and especially children what they cannot understand themselves. And my parents and friends think I do it really well.

A teacher is a person who plays an important role in the development, upbringing and education of the children. The teachers help us to solve the conflicts and disputes; they explain the rules of good manners and much more. For any teacher it is very important to find an approach to every pupil or student. I respect them and I am sensitive to my teachers. I am very grateful for the care, patience to naughty pupils and inexhaustible energy which they spend on our tuition and patronage.

I know that working as a teacher is a very difficult and responsible mission. This profession requires attention to details, interact people to everything they are surrounded by, trust, total and accurate knowledge. I am absolutely sure if you are passionate about your work, adore it and get ready for sacrificing, you have more chances to be successful in your professional life and career.
